GOUGED OUT sidewalk at extension of Wyandotte street north of Colma school is shored up with lumber after recent heavy rains eroded uncompleted walkway. Hole is nearly three feet high and extends back under sidewalk nearly entire length of block. Storm waters flow unimpeded down streets in this area, where there are no drains. Street lies within $100,000 drainage assessment district proposed last fall.

EIGHT-INCH GAP in sidewalk at extension of Wyandotte street continues to widen as erosion slides uncompleted walk down hill. Crevice is large enough for small child to fall into. Area underneath curb and gutter is hollowed out to a depth ranging to three feet entire length of the block. Heavy rains and lack of storm drains were said to have created the problem. Monday night the city council said that due to financial limitations, city would be unable to launch $100,000 storm drainage project until after July 1.

Jitneys Hold 3-2 Margin As Council Decision Date Nears

Although the transportation question won't be decided until next Monday night's meeting, THE RECORD learned exclusively today that jitneys have a majority of support on the council.

In a poll of the five councilmen the eight-passenger jitneys received the nod from three members, while two indicated they would favor bringing in two private bus companies proposing to operate here.

Councilmen Del Wilson and Michael De Bernardi committed themselves decisively for the jitneys, while Edward Dennis said, "The bus lines look pretty bad to me." Vote of these three councilmen would swing the issue in favor of the small vehicles.

Mayor Joseph Verducci and Councilman Sanford Vickers cast their unofficial vote for the private bus lines.

"Only One That Pays"

"I feel the jitneys are best," stated Wilson. De Bernardi declared that, "We already have fast transit through Daly City on the Greyhound. The jitneys will provide fast service within Daly City. They're the only transportation that pays."

Dennis said he was "undecided," but commented that after a survey of Peninsula Bus Lines facilities Tuesday in South San Francisco he felt the private bus firm couldn't handle the job.

Vickers stated that, "The buses definitely get my vote. I still believe in private transportation by a legitimate organization. It's the only solution."

The mayor said his first choice was still actually subsidization of San Francisco Municipal Railway, but revealed that private buses were next in his preference, with the jitneys last. "I think Broadmoor should definitely be considered in our move and the jitneys are excluding that area," the mayor explained.

"Too Many Complaints"

He also said he had received "too many complaints" about the caliber of the jitney operation.

DC Talent Highlights Spring Fete

Local talent will highlight the festivities at the Eighth Annual Spring Festival, which will be held on Sunday, May 22, at the Daly City community center.

For the first time in a number of years the very talented young artists of Daly City will have a chance to perform in this annual event, according to James Mason, recreation director. Another notable change will be the fact that the festivities will be moved from Marchbanks park to the center, which now accommodates 1000 people.

"The ability to see and hear all of the program will be tremendously improved. To further accommodate the audience, the local PTA groups will provide refreshments, at a nominal cost, before and after the show and during the intermission," Mason added.

To date the following "stars" have been "signed" for the show: (Continued on Page 7)

Judge Bocci Says 'No Animals' For Mrs. Caasie Heller

Daly City dog lover, Mrs. Caasie F. Heller, will be allowed no animals in this city for a two-year period by order of Municipal Court Judge Thomas L. Bocci. The sentence was pronounced Tuesday when Mrs. Heller, 67, of 1020 Brunswick street, changed her plea to guilty. She was charged with maintaining a public nuisance when one of her two dogs (Continued on Page 2)

A "stop" order on all city purchases was ordered by City Manager Howard Stites this week after he discovered the municipal budget is currently running in the red $27,000. Stites explained that at this time, with two months remaining in the fiscal year, the city should have $160,000 remaining of its $639,000 general fund budget. Actually, he revealed, there is only $133,000 left.

The problem is most acute in the recreation department, the manager declared, with $27,555 budgeted for the entire year's salaries and $29,551 already spent. As of April 1, he said, there was only $875 remaining in the entire recreation budget.

Same In PD

A parallel situation was found in the police department.

He pointed out that $142,000 was budgeted for the year's salaries. As of March there was $28,874 remaining. Subtracting the estimated April payroll of $13,940 would leave only slightly more than $14,000 to pay two more months' wages. At the present rate of expenses, the police salary budget would be nearly $14,000 in arrears at the end of the fiscal year July 1.

Stites called for a budgetary control system to curb such excess expenditures for salaries. He also advised the council that salaries constituted far too high a percentage of the police department budget, pointing out that out of a $160,000 budget, $142,000 went for wages.

"You can't maintain equipment and office supplies in a setup like this," he declared.

Asks Tight Control Stites said the council should, in the future, maintain strict control over hiring of employees. "If they're not called for in the budget, they shouldn't be hired without definite council approval."

Asked what was the cause of the city being overdrawn, Stites answered that, "It appears employment of men has been authorized beyond the number provided for in the budget. This situation has developed in the past four months."

The manager also warned the council that, "If we're going to continue operation on this type budget, we've got to have another source of revenue or else curtail city services."

He said that a city growing as fast as Daly City couldn't possibly continue to expend money for capital improvements and maintain present tax rate.

Need Extra Revenue "When a city is growing slowly it is possible to set aside enough money each year for capital improvements," he explained. "But in a city growing like Daly City you can't build new facilities with ordinary revenue."

He cited Westlake park and Daly City community center as situations where the council had to draw on general funds to finance (Continued on Page 2)

Since that time to say that a dozen persons have expressed themselves on transportation at a single council gathering would be an exaggeration.

The apathy is due partly to the years of rumor, speculation and indecision connected with the San Francisco Municipal Railway's operation here.

Now, however, the council's action must be conclusive, since San Francisco has made it emphatic that they will discontinue operations here unless subsidized.

After hollering "wolf" for three years it is difficult to create any alarm over the tired topic of transportation.

But citizens must be made to realize that Monday's action is the real thing. Whichever carrier the council chooses is going to be serving your transportation needs for a good length of time, perhaps permanently.

We implore citizens of Daly City to wake up and be heard.

CITIZENS: MONDAY'S THE LAST CHANCE!

Citizens will have a chance to speak their piece on the transportation situation Monday night at the council chambers.

And it will be the last opportunity, because at that time the councilmen will decide whether to support jitneys or private buses as a mode of transportation for this city.

Institution of jitneys here, we believe, would be a mistake reaching tragic proportions.

Why seemingly literate men have taken so enthusiastically to this speculative enterprise is beyond our understanding. What allegiance does this motley assortment of hack drivers, represented by a semi-professional lobbyist, command from this city's government?

We'd like to know the answer. Any decision favoring the jitneys is not a choice made in good faith for our money.

Taxpayers of this community have, generally, shown only passing interest in one of their biggest problems—transportation.

As we recall, the largest public demonstration on transit was at a hearing on the matter more than a year ago.

Since that time to say that a dozen persons have expressed themselves on transportation at a single council gathering would be an exaggeration.

COLMA DUMPING TO CONTINUE FOR 6 MONTHS

Daly City Scavengers were granted a six-month continuance to use a garbage dump on the Zano property near Colma Tuesday despite protest by Colma's supervisor Thomas Callan Sr.

Callan told other supervisors that the smoke from the dump was terrible, "especially in the Broadmoor area."

President of the Scavengers, Al Sereni, today denied Callan's statement.

"The smoke isn't bad at all," Sereni claims.

Scavengers, who have been seeking a garbage dump in which to employ the new fill-and-cover method for over a year, have so far met no success.

At one time the scavengers were negotiating with Callan himself for a new dump site on Callan property, but the supervisor withdrew his offer because he didn't want the site known as "Callan's Dump."

VACCINE PROGRAM SET MAY 16; ASK NEW APPROVALS

May 16 has been set as the starting date for Salk polio vaccine administration to local first and second graders, according to Mrs. Helen Delafield, health coordinator.

New consent slips, of a different color than formerly used, are now being printed and will be distributed in a few days.

The go-ahead for the vaccine program was given by State officials Tuesday and approved by Dr. Harold D. Chope, county health director. The new vaccine will be obtained from Park-Davis laboratories.

Series of shots will be given May 16, 18 and 20, and June 6, 8 and 10, Mrs. Delafield said.

Colma's county Supervisor Thomas J. Callan Sr. let loose with another punch Tuesday in his battle with San Bruno over highway signs on Junipero Serra boulevard.

Callan declared that he intends to bill San Bruno for the cost of repainting a directional sign which the supervisor tore down last month.

"I was arrested for defacing a sign," he declared at a supervisors' meeting. "This sign was defaced by San Bruno before I ever went out there."

Former Prostitute Draws Probation On Illegal Entry Count

Berna Lee Kelly, alias Berna O'Hara, 32-year-old Canadian woman arrested in Daly City January 23 on charges of illegal entry, was sentenced to six months probation in Federal District Judge Oliver D. Hamlin's court Wednesday.

The light sentence carried with it a stipulation by Judge Hamlin that Miss Kelly comply with any deportation order issued by immigration authorities.

Department of immigration is expected to complete deportation action within 60 days.

Miss Kelly was arrested here at 113 Los Banos, where she had taken temporary residence. The alien had been deported in 1953 for practicing prostitution in San Francisco.

She was represented in court by Attorney Edward L. Cragen.

PTA NOMENCLATURE

Colma School "Name's The Same" Quandry

Although a committee was named to study the problem, "The Name's The Same" controversy still rages following Tuesday night's meeting on the problem of selecting new names for Colma school and/or Colma PTA and Hillside PTA.

Some 60 PTA women, Elementary school board trustees and officials gathered at Jefferson Elementary school multi-purpose room to thrash out the nomenclature question.

It was a double occasion, as newly-elected Colma PTA officers presided for the first time, headed by President Mrs. Mervin Nofziger.

The problem, as first broached to the school board at their meeting March 23, was that Colma PTA, which serves Jefferson and R. S. Thornton schools, was being confused with the new Colma school on Market street, with the result that both members and correspondence often wound up at the wrong place.

No Market PTA

The recently-formed Hillside PTA, which serves Colma school (We couldn't call it Colma PTA because we already have one and we couldn't very well call it Market PTA, it was explained), had suggested that possibly Colma PTA could change its name. Then Hillside PTA could switch its title to Colma PTA, thereby giving it the same name as the school it served.

"No, no," was the unanimous expression of the Colma PTA, which has been chartered and in business for 23 years.

"You'd lose your long-time tradition and distinction if you changed your name," agreed Trustee Mike Callan.

"I Was Born There"

As to suggestions that name of Colma school be changed to Hillside school, to conform to the parent-teachers group attached to it, they were definitely out as far as Callan was concerned.

"I was born in Colma and I'd like to see Colma school keep its name even though Daly City is rapidly engorging the area," Callan said. (Colma school, incidentally, is in Daly City.)

Callan also brought in economics, pointing out that there is a name plaque at the Colma school which would cost between $200 and $400 to replace. He also intimated that the state might not approve (Continued on Page 2) changing of the name, since all the loans are made out under Colma school.

Colma School 'Names The Same' Quandry

"We all love the name of Colma. If we change it to Hillside it wouldn't be as nice," he philosophized, concluding that, "I don't think the Colma PTA should have any confusion — they'll all over 21 and adults."

Unbiased Speaker

"You gave us no reasons why we shouldn't change the name of the school," argued Don Leshner, a member of both PTAs affected and therefore unbiased in the name game.

Mrs. Geraldine Vickers, also a double PTA member, then inquired if there were any persons there representing only Hillside PTA.

Silence followed.
"We'd have to consult with a Hillside representative before changing their name," Mrs. Vickers pointed out.

"If the Colma PTA has served two schools with different names for 23 years, why can't Hillside PTA do the same," Callan inquired.
Mrs. George Bertucci, Colma PTA parliamentarian, answered that they had chosen the name because the PTA would be serving two schools.

"Why should the school board go to all this expense changing a school name when Colma PTA seems to get along all right with Jefferson and Thornton schools?" asked Callan. "I don't think there'd be that much confusion."

His conjecture was greeted with unanimous voices of protest in the audience.

She Helped Name

Trustee Katherine Mullen then was called on to express her opinion, revealing that it was she who helped name Hillside PTA.

"It doesn't make a bit of difference to me what happens but I don't think there should really be too much confusion the way it is," she commented.

Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, declaring he would have to differ with his "bosses," opined that the state finance committee wouldn't obstruct any name change. He agreed, however, that to change the school's name would mean a several hundred dollar investment for a new plaque.

He suggested the problem be solved by sending out ballots to all parents who had a child in one of the three schools.

Three Questions

Choices on Weibel's ballot would be:

1. Leave all names the same.
2. Change Colma school to Hillside school.
3. Change Colma PTA's name.

The proposal receiving the most parent support would then be adopted, after board approval, Weibel explained.

"This plan is biased," complained Callan. "You're taking the easy way out. There should be a fourth choice—That name of Hillside PTA be changed to Colma-Hillside PTA."

He also held that the ballot should inform parents how much it would cost to change name of Colma school.

"You don't have the last word. We're taxpayers and we should have some say," retorted Leshner. "Who named Colma school?" asked Mrs. Eleanor Doyle. "I did," said Callan. "Didn't you realize there was already a Colma PTA," she queried.

"I Didn't Know"

"Matter of fact," Callan said innocently, "I didn't know it at the time."

Miss Marie Traynor, Jefferson school principal, returned to the ballot proposal, pointing out that voting would not be representative, since there are more children at Colma school than at the other two combined.

"Do it by percentage," said Mrs. Vickers.

"No, by actual votes," answered Callan.

"But there might be enough Colma school parents to vote in a change of name for Colma PTA," Mrs. Doyle stated.

"We wouldn't change Colma PTAs' name," Callan said decisively.

"That's what started the whole problem," Mrs. Bertucci volunteered.

"If you can't educate your members to your own name, you're doing a bum job, ladies," Callan said.

Secretary Was Confused

Mrs. John Bricker, Colma PTA secretary, then testified that it took her three months to figure out who Colma PTA belonged to when she first moved here.

H. E. Alfson, Colma school principal, related that a name change might affect seventh and eighth grade Colma school students who had developed a feeling for the school. "On this question, however, I'll straddle the fence," he concluded.

Joseph Ferrea then moved that a committee of three be named to study the name situation and report to Weibel.

Leshner and Mesdame Vickers and Bertucci were selected to man the study committee.

Having temporarily dispensed with Hillside PTA, Colma PTA, Colma PTA, Jefferson school, R. S. Thornton school, Colma-Hillside PTA, Hillside school, the ladies proceeded to the next order of business.

capital improvements.

Asked by Councilman Sanford Vickers if the city couldn't institute a per-lot charge on subdivisions, Stites said, "Many cities do require such a charge. It's possible to do. We could attach a requirement that the builder either provide facilities or pay enough money to install the facilities."

The manager said a small amount on each home, such as $100, would bring in a good deal of revenue.

In order to reach the end of this fiscal year without going into the red, Stites recommended that awarding bid on a fire alarm be held over until after July 1.

Emergency Measures

Other emergency measures recommended by Stites and approved by the council were: Stop all departmental expenditures other than salaries; dispend with services of Engineer Edwin Smith for the remainder of the year; eliminate as much hiring of part-time help as possible, and reduce part-time help; hold over capital improvement projects planned for this year.

Stites revealed that there was actually no allocation in the budget for engineering services, yet the council had been paying fees for them all year.

Stites emphasized that the city was "not broke." He cautioned, however, that, "If we keep exceeding the budget this way we're headed for it."

Let Stites Decide

Mayor Joseph Verducci said the council would let Stites decide where to economize in order to keep the city solvent for the remainder of the year.

Stites told the council that nearly every department was operating in the hole at this point. Ranked behind police and recreation for over-spending was general administration, with only $14,000 remaining, compared with $18,338 that should have been left according to the budget.

In the fire department, only $14,000 remained for salaries out of $18,000 called for in the budget.

Stites related that percentage of money spent for salaries in the fire department was also out of line. Out of an $83,000 budget, $75,000 goes for salaries.

Push Rec Agreement
In other business Monday night, the council asked Stites to inquire of the two local school boards if they had decided to enter into the "five-cent recreation" agreement with Daly City. Under this proposal, a tax of five cents per $100 valuation would be levied on the school districts' homeowners. This money would go for joint use on recreation projects.

CAR SHIPPING

Almost 90 per cent of American motor vehicles was delivered overseas from factories and assembly plants in 1953, reports the California State Automobile Association. Only 8 per cent was shipped by boat and about 2 per cent by rail.

Councilmen ruled that firemen should have 15 days annual vacation, and not 16 as suggested by Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy. The fire chief maintained that under civil service rules he interpreted the firemen should get 16 days. The council voted that the 15 days would run consecutive, and would

DALY CITY'S FINANCIAL SICKNESS

City Manager Howard Stites has placed before the council a problem that has not diminished, but increased, in the past five years.

The city's financial status is at a dangerous level because of excess spending for salaries and capital improvements. This excess spending was brought about mainly because men had to be hired beyond the budget limitations to carry out the services necessary in a city that is increasing population with seven-league boots.

Stites hit the problem squarely when he said, "If we're going to continue operating as we have we've got to have more revenue. Otherwise, services will have to be curtailed."

The manager explained that in static communities enough money can be set aside each year for capital improvements (such as parks, libraries, firehouses, et al). But in a community growing as fast as Daly City, this is impossible, according to Stites.

Several methods for gaining new revenue were mentioned Monday night. One was turning the business license bureau over to a non-officer and tighter enforcement of the business license requirement. Another was that the city turn its tax collection over to the county.

Both of these put together wouldn't amount to a pecayune compared to the amount of money needed.

The only answer, other than increasing property taxes to a prohibitive level, is to charge a per-lot fee on new homes.

When new families take residence here, as Stites pointed out, they must be provided with city services for nearly two years before the city receives any tax monies to compensate for these services.

Already scrimping in every department, the city must still eliminate valuable services to finance any major project that comes along. There just isn't enough money there to make a lump sum allocation for jobs such as Daly City community center or Westlake park.

The fee-per-lot plan has become widely accepted in California cities, with charges ranging from $30 to $250.

The state legislature recently commented on the fact that many subdivisions are still being developed with inadequate provisions for water, sewage, roads and drainage. Such, we believe, is not the case here, but new families are placing a load on the city treasury in the form of demands for other municipal services—police, fire, library, recreation.

Stites mentioned a $100 per home fee as equitable. Such an amount would enrich the city coffers thousands of dollars each year, enough to finance projects to fulfill the increasing municipal needs.

We feel that some sort of charge per lot, or per home, is the only answer to solve the financial sickness developing out of Daly City's growing pains.

COUNTY BUDGET

An all-time high preliminary county budget of $16,089,124 for 1955-56 was submitted to the board of supervisors today by County Manager E. R. Stallings, who estimated that the tax rate will probably be increased about 25 cents.

Health-Welfare Split

County Manager E. R. Stallings today recommended that a study be made to determine the possibility of separating the administration of the county health and welfare functions.

Stallings based his suggestion on the rapid population growth of the county and said the present arrangement may be nearing "the point of diminishing returns."

TORMEY CHARGES

Charges that the County School Superintendents' association of California is "a captive organization under the domination of Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction and the state school department" were made Monday by San Mateo County Superintendent James R. Tormey.

The accusation was made in protest to a state bill which would establish budgetary "ground rules" for county school service funds appropriated by the state. Only five counties out of 55 oppose the bill.

24-HOUR SCHOOL

Proposed legislation to establish 24-hour schools for pre-delinquents was shelved for the second time last week by the state assembly committee on education. The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Richard Dolwig, failed to pass the assembly committee by two votes.

The bill would allow the establishment of special schools for children showing signs of becoming delinquents. Entrance would be voluntary.

PG&E Employee Record

Joseph A. Cunningham, member of a family whose service record with Pacific Gas and Electric Company covers the full 103-year history of the company, was one of the honored guests last week at a PG&E dinner.

Cunningham lives at 517 Acacia street, San Bruno. He has served as city treasurer since 1920 and served nine years as school trustee. He will reach retirement age with PG&E in July this year.

'MYSTERY PRINCE' COFFIN DWELLER JUDGED SANE

Robert Hammersley, 20, who has twice been arrested for sleeping in a coffin, was identified this week as "Armand Darvulla, Prince of Mystery" during sanity hearings in Superior court.

The youth was judged sane and ordered back to stand trial at South San Francisco Municipal court.

The ruling was handed down by Superior Judge Louis B. Dematteis after hearing testimony by Dr. John B. Peschau, court-appointed psychiatrist, that Hammersley has "personality conflicts" but is not psychotic.

Hammersley, former Hollywood magician, was arrested last March for allegedly sleeping in a coffin at Cypress Lawn cemetery. He is charged with malicious destruction of property, vagrancy and disturbing the peace.

The youth was arrested last year in San Francisco when he was found sleeping in a coffin, surrounded by candelabra. He was given a psychiatric examination and declared sane.

H. H. SMITHS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING TODAY

DALY CITY, shortly after the H. H. Smiths moved here, looked like this old photograph, which, so far, no one has been able to identify as to exact location.

Smith reports that he admired the "pioneer spirit" of Daly City people after the 1906 San Francisco fire and so decided to make his own home here. The pioneer resident first learned of the city when he contracted to move temporary homes to the "new subdivision" after the fire.

Couple's Story Tells Part Of DC History

The story of the H. H. Smiths, who today celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary, is synonymous with the history of Daly City. On their Golden Wedding anniversary, the Smiths recall the 47 years they have lived in Daly City.

Neither one of the pioneer residents were born in the area, Smith being from Quebec, Canada, and his wife, the former Annie Hopman, from Rutherford in Napa county.

Smith was a Canadian for only one year, however, as his family moved and settled in Napa Valley in 1883, a year after his birth. There, he attended Oakville elementary school.

"There was too much work to be done to permit living away from the farm to go to high school," Smith recalls.

Married 1905
The couple were married on May 6, 1905, in St. Helena. After the 1906 Fire they moved to San Francisco where Smith engaged in the teaming business.

"Our first knowledge of the area which is now Daly City came in 1907," said Smith.

At that time Smith contracted to move refugee shacks, built after the fire in San Francisco, to the new subdivision, Hillcrest and Vista Grande.

"We were impressed with the pioneer spirit of the people starting to build a community," Smith declared, "so in 1908 I discontinued the teaming business in San Francisco and moved to what is now Daly City."

From 1908 to 1944 Smith was engaged in the lumber, building and fuel businesses.

Old-Timers Remember
Old-timers will remember the thrift and hard work of Mr. and Mrs. Smith as they determinedly made their business ventures a success.

"Mrs. Smith became so efficient that at one time she could figure quantities and values of lumber and other materials necessary for an ordinary building while customers sat and waited," Smith fondly relates.

All five of the Smith children attended college. They are Mrs. Evelyn Purser, Miss Edna Smith, Hugh Smith Jr., Miss Irene Smith and George Smith. There are five grandchildren.

Upon moving to Daly City, Smith at once began active participation in politics.

Until 1918, he was chairman of almost every organization for the development of the city, which was incorporated in 1911. At one time he was chairman of seven different organizations and chief of the fire department at the same time.

Appointed Mayor
In 1918 he became a candidate for the office of city trustee, as the office was then called. Smith was elected and appointed mayor and was re-elected in 1922, 1926, 1930 and 1934. Each time he was appointed mayor by the city council.

"After retiring from the city council in 1936 after 18 years' service, friends requested that I seek the office of county supervisor for a four-year term," Smith said.

He was elected and served as chairman of the board of supervisors for two, two-year terms by unanimous vote of the members. This gave him the distinction of having served for 22 years in public office and never at any time

GOLDEN WEDDING will be celebrated tonight (Friday) by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith, pioneer Daly City couple, who will be honored at a family dinner at the Pioneer Inn in Woodside. Moving to Daly City in 1908, the

but in the chairman's seat. "Only Good Luck"

Retirement after four years as a supervisor led to Smith's candidacy for the office of County Executive in 1940. Smith often refers to that experience as the only good luck he had in politics.

"I was defeated and had the chance, after years of public service, to live my own life and become really acquainted with my family," he explains.

Smith's accomplishments were many, and all served to benefit Daly City. A few of his activities included: director and chairman of the board of directors of the Daly City bank, the Bank of Italy and the Bank of America.

Seven-year member and part-time chairman of the San Mateo County Social Service commission. Four-year member and part-time chairman of the County Planning commission.

Chairman of the committee for the selection of the present high school site in Daly City.

Woodrow Wilson Site
Chairman of the Committee for the selection of the present Woodrow Wilson school site.

Committee chairman for the selection of the present site and development of the Catholic church. Leader in the movement for widening of Mission street from a 66-foot roadway to its present width.

President of Peninsula Division of League of Municipalities.

Chairman of the Two-County committee to have the Highway 101 signs placed back on El Camino Real.

Year 1911 Fire Commissioner, volunteer fireman for 17 years and a member of the Daly City Veteran Firemen's association.

Greatest Disappointment
When asked what Smith considered his greatest disappointment, he answered his inability to get sufficient support on the Board of Supervisors to approve the plan of purchasing the thousands of acres of Butano Forest for $300,000, payable in annual installments of $50,000.

"Supervisor Hatch and I were the only supporters, and we needed only one more vote," he declared. "The price is now over $1,000,000 for a small part of the forest," Smith added.

TV and Radio

PERSONALITY SKETCH... "Outstanding floor director of Northern California presented by the Northern California Academy of Television Arts and Sciences" reads the inscription of the beautiful gold trophy, or "emmy" as it is referred to in television, which now graces the home of Glenn Jackson, our television personality for this week, and another Westlake resident. He received this award recently because of his work on remotes, sports programs and as assistant director on SUCCESS STORY (KGO-TV, Tuesdays, 8 p.m.), Richfield's popular and informative program which this week featured a telecast from San Mateo Union High school in honor of Public Schools Week.

A modest young man, we found it difficult to get him to talk about himself... instead he wanted to tell us about his lovely young wife who is ballerina of the San Francisco Opera Company. He just "happened to have" a book handy which included photographs and stories about the beautiful ballet dancer in scenes from different productions. Nancy Johnson, as she is known professionally, was also ballerina of the Standard Hour TV series seen over local television several years ago.

Storybook Life
Glenn Jackson's life reads almost like a storybook with a background of the stage, military life and even romance thrown in for good measure. His first love was the theatre, and he performed in the San Francisco Municipal Theatre productions and also taught stagecraft under the San Francisco Adult Education program. He served five years in the infantry during the war, returning to college where he graduated from San Francisco State College with a major in drama in 1949. He then joined the staff of KGO-TV where one of his assignments was as stage manager on the Standard Hour TV series, and where incidentally he met his talented wife. Currently his programs include in addition to SUCCESS STORY, POLKA DOT REVUE and OUR CATHOLIC HERITAGE.

An intense and ambitious young man, Glenn admitted that although he is extremely fond of his work, he still has enough of the "ham" in him to hope that someday he may appear in front of the cameras in addition to this work because he is in his capacity as a director. Right now he said that he is concerned with "making a home out of a house," and as we sat in his charming living room in Westlake Highlands and gazed over the panorama of San Francisco, we could not help but feel that these two talented young people had already succeeded in that ambition.

New KQED Studio
KQED, the community television channel, has been granted the use of an unoccupied area in the recently constructed creative arts building at San Francisco State college, with the signing of a lease with the State of California, and will be put in use as soon as funds are raised to equip it. This project will provide KQED with a studio plant on a par with other television stations while providing the college with an opportunity to enhance its training program in television. The leased area is in the basement of the Creative Arts Building, immediately below the radio studios. Before KQED can avail itself of the opportunities of the lease, sufficient funds must be raised to equip the area as a studio. As a contribution to the community station, the San Francisco Chapter of the American Institute of Architects has prepared plans for such a studio, together with an art shop, dressing rooms, rehearsal area, motion picture projection and control facilities. At present KQED is operating from a studio in the John O'Connell Technical Institute in San Francisco under a lease arrangement with the San Francisco Public Schools.

POWER BRAKES
Power brake hits are available for many automobiles not originally equipped with them, but it is unwise to have one installed unless a competent mechanic checks the brake system to see if it is in good condition, advises the California State Automobile Association. The extra braking pressure that a power kit supplies may cause brake failure on an older car.

WHEN IS a playground not a playground? This recreation site for youngsters on MacArthur boulevard near Midway in Broadmoor, in operation for seven years, faces abandonment. Official abolishing of the playground has met with confusion, however. The property is owned by Jefferson High School district. The district has allowed Broadmoor Property Owners association to equip the area, then recently the district told the BPOA to remove the equipment, since they were going to sell the land. Maryann Read, BPOA president, said the playground has reverted to the high school and, "We've already given the equipment to the Jefferson Elementary School district." Lyal Ingersoll, High school board of trustees chairman, says, however, that "We haven't decided when to sell the property. As far as we're concerned it's all right to leave the equipment there for the youngsters to use." "We can't use it now, we've given our equipment away," said Mrs. Read. "Besides, we're discontinuing insurance on the playground when the equipment is gone," she added. The Elementary district has dismantled all the equipment except the merry-go-round and is storing it in a bus shed. "We haven't decided where to put it yet," declared H. Z. Weibel, elementary district superintendent. Meanwhile, the nearly-vacant playground site has been termed by Ingersoll as of "no value to the high school but we haven't decided when to sell it."

Until completion of the first unit at Elmwood and Southgate streets the church will continue to hold its services on the second floor of the Westlake Medical-Dental building, 48 Park Plaza, Westlake Shopping Center.

Village Notes

By Gwin Mitchell

Latest luncheon birthday party was the one marking Vicki Guzman's tenth birthday. Guests at her Foothill home were Ann Irby, Pamela Hill, Cathy Leech, Lynn Jones and Nadine Despit. Down on Wildwood, Sue Irby invited Debbie Leech, Karen Guymon, Virginia Jones, Linda Christman, Paula Baumgartner and Susan Helman to share the fun of her seventh birthday.

Vicki Falconer, once a resident of Garden Village and friend to many people hereabouts, is laid up with a broken leg. Seems she slipped getting out of her car and fractured the leg in two places. People who know how active Vicki has always been will know how hard it will be for her to keep still, and maybe a card or letter from old friends will help. The Falconers moved recently and their address is 367 Hanson Place, San Jose. Our best brand of get well wishes goes with this item.

Paul and Doris Elliott and young Steve left Gilman Drive for Mt. Tamalpais and a Saturday picnic with Capt. and Mrs. Lloyd Hightower, friends who are leaving the Bay Area by reason of an AAF transfer. After a pleasant afternoon, they all had dinner together at the Hightowers before saying goodbye.

Louvaine's Mary Lichtenberg had a chance to talk over old times with an ex-WAC friend, when Gwen Byrnes spent a day here. The two of them had met in basic training and had stayed together for all further assignments till the orders came that sent Gwen to Paris and Mary to the African Gold Coast.

Ruth and Trevor Jones have been THAT busy! They went to see "Teahouse of the August Moon" on a Friday, went to the Lions club dance on a Saturday and would have joined their Foothill neighbors for a block picnic on a Sunday, except that it was rained out! Ed and Lorraine Lee, Vic and Mabs Guz and Del and Mauraine Guymon kept them company at the dance.

The Sirianni family seem to be representing 87th street in show business one way or another. Richard, now at Ft. Carson, Colorado, was MC and singer in the show his company put on at the end of their basic training, and sister Bobby made here television debut with the Jeff High group on Hi Time recently.

North and South: The Peter Rizzos gathered up John and Jan and went from Louvaine to Lakeport for a weekend with one of Janet's college friends and her family. Another college friend and her little boy went too and it was a wonderful weekend, in spite of rain. Snow on the hills and blossoming dogwood and rebudbs in the valleys were beautiful to see. Mayo and Corinne Bryce took time away from sons David and Mark and their Garden Lane home and went down to Fresno to visit the friends who introduced them to each other. Other friends from Berkeley went too, and a party and picnic and the trip itself made for a perfect weekend.

The Sick List is back again—everyone seems to be going round and round with a peculiarly nasty kind of flu. Get well wishes have been in order for Jenny Beckerman, Judy Logan, Virginia Jones, Jimmy Eposito and Gary and Ronnie Stettler in the younger set, and for Herb Stettler, Barbara Tubbs, Ginny Collins and Millie Eposito, among the parents. The measles are stubbornly hanging around, with the Bell and Pagel children over on Midway the latest victims. Nicest thing we've heard was the news that when the whole Somers family over on Foothill was down with the flu, the Y Indian Guides group prepared and brought them a complete hot dinner, so that Leila wouldn't have to worry about cooking.

Fathers must have a special gift for running birthday parties—Russell Chiosso helped with daughter Phyllis' sixth birthday celebration, and guests Claudia Guz, Debbie Leech, Karen Guymon, Ginny Jones, Nancy Dethlefsen, Gail Land and Elaine Chiosso thought it something very special indeed. John Mitchell took charge of the games at son Donny's birthday party, also a sixth one, and Eddie Morris, Lonnie Ecker, George Smith, Jackie Murrish, Dean Taylor, Clifford Box, Jimmy Helmer, Michael Corso and Dickie Eposito kept him busy refereeing and handing out prizes. Prize Party MCs Russell and John may be reached on Foothill and Maddux, respectively!

Stewart avenue's Ruth Brown is looking slightly green lately—with envy! Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Owens, are driving across country to pick up a new Chrysler in Detroit and will continue on to Florida, then to Havana by plane to visit Ruth's brother James, and then home again by way of Louisiana and the southern highways. Who wouldn't want such a terrific trip!

The Gordon Feists, senior and junior, and friend Jack Soto very nearly didn't make it back home to Sweetwood from their weekend fishing trip to Lake Almanore. There were 6 inches of snow when they were sent out ahead of a blizzard, and people who didn't follow orders to leave got snowed in for four days. A fine thing for the fish, maybe!

Happy birthday wishes are in order for Lynn MacCarthy and Margie Bartelmez, both young ladies are now four years young. Sweetwood and Garden Lane were showered with their birthday cards! Speaking of the latter avenue, it should have been named Birthday Lane, as Mikie Sattel had a fifth birthday and Tommy Orlich a fourth. Mikie's planned trip to the zoo got rained out, but David Bryce, Tommy Orlich and sister Darlene helped him have fun at home. Tommy invited Dorothy and Carol Irvine, David Bryce, Mikie and Darlene Sattel, Margie Bartelmez, Sandra Harding, Ginger Giamona and Susie Klopstock to his party. Assorted mothers can now catch their breaths—all quiet on the birthday front, for a while!

Stork Club: The membership list has increased again! There's a Queen Bee in the Jon Karlsson home on Sweetwood now, where young Jon and his brothers Eric and Marc are all paying court to Sigrid Eileen, a nice new 7 lb. 10 oz. sister. David and Mary Nagel brought second son Martin James home to Gilman Drive, where he was welcomed by brother Edmond, 2 proud years old. Martin was a 6 lb. 6 oz. Saturday night arrival! Larchmont had a double dose of babies, with Denise Leone Zenetta and Patricia Ann Moffat coming home to live next door to each other! Denise is No. 1 for the Raymond Zenettas, with 7 lbs. 9 oz. to her credit, and Patricia has brother Michael to help take care of her. She decided on 5 lbs. 11 oz. as a starter. Larry and Bette Doyle over on Ellis brought new brother Bruce Ian home to Mona Jean, who is very proud of all 6 lbs. 12 oz. of him. Larry is an announcer on KGO, and Bruce shows signs of following in his father's footsteps, as he is doing quite a bit of announcing of his own!

Bill and Marion Spry are entertaining visitors from Seattle—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kehle, who were neighbors of the Sprys when the latter were Seattle-ites too. Every year the Kehles come down for the Equitable Life Insurance of Iowa convention, and always spend some extra time on 87th street with the Sprys.

Three of Broadmoor's college age group, Barbara Amirkhan, Joanne Gordon and Martha Whitehouse, attended the Christian Vocation Conference held at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo on April 22, 23 and 24, and found it highly interesting, emphasizing the Christian element in the business world, which is all too often forgotten or overlooked.

Selma and Ignatius San Filippo had a farewell visit with Selma's sister, Mrs. Sherman Finley and her daughter, Linda, when she visited their home on MacArthur before leaving Pueblo, Colorado, and going to Germany to join her husband, who is working for the U.S. Government there. She'll go to New York by train, and then change to plane for the trans-ocean part of her trip.

Maddux lost another Original Family when the John Coneys moved to Sunnyvale, but the Ed Belluominis came back home again after a trial stay at Lodi. Ed is now with the State Police and working on the Bay Bridge.

Kathryn Hurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Alexander, are staying with her on Gilman for a week's visit, with Cinerama and a trip around the Bay on their things-to-do list. Living in Lemon Grove, they make a trip to the San Francisco area fairly often to see Kathryn and her family.

First Communion is a very important day in the lives of many of our children, and Mike Garner, Linda Hurst, Susan Murphy, Gordon Feist, Robbie Fernekes, Janice Murphy and Nancy Marconi were among the large group making First Communion on May 1 and 8 at Holy Angels church.

Honor War Hero At Jeff Hi May 12

Fred Baldwin, historian, Dept. of Calif. U.S.W.V., will present to the Jefferson High school the flag that draped the casket of a former student of this school who made the supreme sacrifice in World War Two.

He is Lieut. David Albert Grenier, who lost his life in sustained Bomber operations over Germany and German occupied countries on September 28, 1944.

The War Department notified his mother, Mrs. Mary Grenier, of 1130 Brunswick street, Daly City, that her son, David, had been awarded the Air Medal and given a citation. The citation will be read by Baldwin during the presentation ceremonies of the flag, which will take place in the auditorium of Jefferson High school, 6996 Mission street, Daly City, at 11 a.m., May 12.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

After the discussion, the parents of these students served refreshments to all.

THE RECORD WOMEN'S PAGE

CAT NAPPING at rehearsals are two stars of "Bell, Book and Candle," to open May 13. Shown here are Mrs. Celeste Klebanoff, who plays the part of the witch, and Mr. Schwartz, who lives with the Merritt Beckermans of Broadmoor.

Broadmoor Thespian Wins Leading Role

May 13 may mark the beginning of a great stage career for a Broadmoor resident.

Mr. Schwartz of 1832 Sweetwood drive will make his theatrical debut at the tender age of one year with the opening of "Bell, Book and Candle" by the South San Francisco Players, Inc.

The talented thespian, who lives with the Merritt Beckermans, will play the role of "Pyewacket," a black cat.

Mr. Schwartz is ideally suited to the role in that he is a black cat. According to Beckerman, a professor at city college, Mr. Schwartz often has been accused of being a ham.

Artistic Temperament "He definitely has shown artistic temperament, even before winning the role of 'Pyewacket,' Beckerman explained.

Mr. Schwartz's talent is attributed to the fact that he is part Siamese.

"However, he is really very amiable," the professor stated.

Mr. Schwartz got his break when Mrs. Beckerman, an assistant teacher at Village Play school, was asked if she knew of a black cat who could fill the part in "Bell, Book and Candle." Naturally, she recommended Mr. Schwartz for the role.

And naturally, being a performer of no mean note, Mr. Schwartz was given the part.

To Attend Opening The Beckermans and their daughter, Jerry, 6½, plan to attend opening night to cheer Mr. Schwartz.

Judy, 10, another Beckerman daughter, will accompany Mr. Schwartz backstage where she will play the role of "cat sitter."

"Bell, Book and Candle" will be presented at the Spruce avenue school auditorium, May 13, 14, 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

The cast includes Mrs. Celeste Klebanoff as the witch, and Bill Biggerstaff, Barbara Carle, Richard George and Wesley McDaniel. Director is Lory Olsinger.

Membership in the Players is open to residents of all surrounding areas. Mrs. Klebanoff reports that now is a good time to get on the mailing list for summer reading. Contact one of the members at the box office.

Mrs. Erv Wilson Named Eagle 'Mother Of Year'

All Eagles are urged to bring their mothers, wives and friends because this evening is dedicated to Mothers everywhere. A grand evening is in the offing, according to publicity chairman Charley Maschinit.

Joe Rayla is program director, and Maschinit and Jack Wilson, are co-chairmen of the event. A nine-piece orchestra will play for the evening, and a buffet dinner will be served at 11:30 p.m.

Sixth Grade - Miss Connelly Written by Kathleen Jacoby Student Room 6

Our three sixth grades are planning an outgoing picnic on June 2 at the Sigmund Stern Grove. Plans for the picnic will be discussed by the mothers of the students on May 12, 1:30 p.m. at our school library.

On Friday, May 13, the students of sixth grade, room 6, will make a trip to the San Francisco International Airport to be taken on a guided tour by Mr. Mark Gerstle.

Wednesday, May 4, the entire student body presented a May festival of folk and square dancing.

We have the nicest custodian, Mario, in our school. He is always very kind and considerate of the children.

Sixth Grade - Miss Laury Written by Sharon Greenlin Student Room 5

Last week was Public Schools Week. We had our room decorated with finger paintings and work that the children had done. On Monday, April 25, the Crocker school had a program in which the Crocker glee club and the Crocker band entertained the parents. Everyone thought the program was excellent. We have made folders in which we put our daily work for the parents to examine.

Our class is doing a new kind of finger painting. We are drawing with crayon first and then we cover it with black finger-paint. We think they are very nice and very colorful.

We are very proud of Annabell Avila who won third prize in the George Washington contest of the American Legion.

Argus Of Colma School

THE WINNAHS — The names of the winners of the photo contest have been announced. The first prize of $5 was awarded to Anthony Miley, Room 11, for his picture of Yosemite. Bill Krueger, Room 14, won $4. Second Prize: his picture was a scene of San Francisco. The third prize of $3 went to Jim Krueger, Room 34, for his picture of a cat. David Gillespie, Room 39, captured fourth prize and $2 for a snap of a child shoveling snow. What! No female winners? What happened girls?

A MESSAGE TO THE EIGHTH GRADERS — Attention Coming Graduates! Remember these dates: On May 13, the dreaded day has arrived—the constitution test! The date of the test may be changed. —On May 23, and on May 24, the eighth graders will visit Jefferson High school and take a tour of the school. —Plans for the Graduation Dance have not been made yet but when they are "Argus" will tell you.

MACKLIN MUTTERS — It's been keeping me awake nights making me old at 13, nearly shattering my nerves. My brown Macklin Mop is ready to turn white, without the help of peroxide! It's called the "Constitution Test." Harmless sounding, isn't it? But oh, what it can do to those who must take it soon. You see, all eighth graders must pass this test either this year or else in the eighth grade next year! — But just in case some of us "victims of our teachers and their associates" do pass this grueling test on government and history, there was a meeting of the parents and three representatives in the Multi-Purpose Room Tuesday, April 19. The representatives were Mr. Morgan, Miss Wood, and Mr. South. They were representing (in case you're wondering) Jefferson High school. The meeting was to acquaint the parents of Jeff's future students with the high-school and how it operates, what students do and don't do while there. By the way, have you ever noticed stragglers at PTA meetings? They sneak in like guilty school kids. It must be the school atmosphere that does it. — Friday, April 22, was the C.G.A. (Colma Girl's Association) Fashion Show. This year there was work of the girls in homemaking plus some cute outfits from the Emporium. Let's hope it turns out as well next year as it did this year.

WHEW!! — Did you know about the strong sun that has been bleaching some of the girl's bangs lately? I guess you didn't know, but this strong sun is liquid and its bottled.

A NOTE OF APPRECIATION

April 15, 1955
Miss Barbara Hanson
Secretary, Junior Red Cross Council
Colma School

Dear Barbara:
Please express our thanks to the students who made the Easter Tray mats, as a Junior Red Cross project.
We know they were appreciated on Easter morning by the veterans at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital.
Our thanks to you too, for your cooperation in having the mats made.

Sincerely,
Secretary,
Junior Red Cross

GOOD WORK — Mrs. Julie Burr has been cutting paper dolls to decorate the second grades for Open House Week. Melody Bastedo, Judy Brumen, Barbara Ginnell, Emma Hale, Bette Jean Latimer and Judy Orr from Room 52 helped by coloring the dolls. They looked very nice when they were finished.

FAR EASTERN INTRIGUE — It all happened in the year 1953, when my Godfather took a trip to Pakistan. One morning while window shopping for souvenirs to bring back home from Arabia, he came across a beautiful doll dressed in yellow and blue net. After purchasing the doll he was amazed to learn that she wasn't permitted to leave the country. Under further inquiry the merchant told him that the doll had been picked to represent the country of Pakistan and was expected to win the title of Miss Pakistan. Upon learning this my Godfather was very discouraged and made-up his mind that he was going to send me the doll in spite of what the merchant had said. So with the help of a friend, who was coming to the United States, the doll was put in a car seat cover box, and both the doll and friend slipped away from Pakistan. A couple of days later my Godfather went back into Arabia and I received my doll without any trouble. The doll now stands on my shelf with all the other foreign dolls my Godfather has sent to me.
—by Roberta Masliakoff.

WE WONDER how much truth there is to the report that Shop Instructor Mr. Paul Sobol has been hospitalized by a severe case of "sympathetic pains."

DEADLINE — Miss Doris Duecher's Year Book Club have been working very hard and fast to ready their copy for the May 10, 1955, deadline. The children will receive their copy on the last week of school which falls in June.

STORY WEATHER — FUN DAY is coming to Colma School, that is fun for the pupils, and POSSIBLY trouble for the teachers. How the pupils act will determine the length of existence of days like these. There will be dancing, a baseball game and prizes for best costumes. You may be sure the photographers will have a field day.

JUNIOR CITIZENS CONCLAVE—Have you ever cut school and gotten away with it? But several Colma students did! Even with the teachers' approval. How, you ask? They attended the Jr. UNESCO meeting at Terra Linda school in San Carlos, Friday morning, April 22.

The 23 students, representing Colma, Garden Village, Woodrow Wilson, Westlake and Jeff, boarded the bus at 8:30 a.m. and arrived 45 minutes later to participate in the community sing. Following this a radio skit, "Is Baseball Worth It All?" demonstrated to the representatives how a Jr. UNESCO operates. This was followed by a semi-classical Japanese dance presented by Joy Nakanishi of the Brentwood school, East Palo Alto.

"Unicef Helps the World's Children," another radio skit, again showed the audience another phase of the program. A Scottish sword dance by Janet Wicklow of the Terra Linda school evoked the international feeling as did the baton twirling of Maxine Puiti of College Park school, San Mateo. During the intermission the hosts and hostesses of Terra Linda school served refreshments to the delegates.

After this brief pause the students of various schools reported on their activities during the school year in relation to the United Nations Education Science Cultural organization. The schools had purchased UNESCO Gift Coupons, made displays, contacted pen pals, bought CARE packages, and "adopted" war children—a project to be seriously thought of by Colma students.

A movie, "Three R's in the Sand," was shown following this report period, telling how UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Educational Fund) helped the children of the Middle East. Following the movie the meeting was adjourned and after looking at the various displays the students boarded the bus and returned to their respective schools. It was an enlightening experience and certainly motivated many thoughts of "What we will do to contribute to the program of Jr. UNESCO next school year." Teachers accompanying the students were Mrs. Marian Tusculli and James Hough.

SMALL WORLD ISN'T IT?—A familiar face was sighted at the Jr. UNESCO meeting at Terra Linda. Linda Oliver was serving as one of the hostesses and we saw her brother in the audience; both were in the Jefferson Elementary School district last year.

ONE, TWO, THREE STRIKES—Friday, May 6, the eighth grade Varsity baseball team plays South San Francisco in a double header. All boys going out for the team will participate. Under the able coaching of Coach Bill Mendosa the team will travel to the home diamond of South San Francisco.

The boys are: Ronald Kalinin, Andy Scalse, Mike Wills, Irwin Wong, Tom Ricca, Gary Shearer, Mike Deal, Peter Garcia, Ross Holgren, Don Burley, Gary Cowden, Mike Silberstein, Barry Beinert, Phil Fair, Konny Franges, Art Shanoian, Larry Shoemfelt, James Ahern, Richard Dean, Ernie Howren, Russell Chalmers, Eddy Berg, Paul Clima, Richard Mollison, Dave Frost, Larry Maloney and Dave Dunbar.

Mr. Huajardo stated, "All boys on the team should be commended for their efforts. With so many boys out for the team I can see that we at Colma need to find more competition in order to give every boy an opportunity to play. It would be wonderful if we could find schools that had an eighth grade varsity and junior varsity as we do at Colma."

Smiths Hit 50-Year Mark

Dear Sir:
Looking forward to this coming Friday, May 6, 1955, our fiftieth wedding anniversary, and then back over the fifty years spent almost entirely in this community, it seems a most appropriate milestone at which to pause and give thanks to Almighty God for all the favors and blessings of those years and to also, if we may, through your columns, express our thanks and appreciation to all who have helped to make our 1905 dreams of happiness come true to the fullest and our hopes for success more than realized. We are indeed most grateful.

$2500 Damage Is Caused To Home By Runaway Car

A driverless runaway car ended a mad trip down Wellington street Saturday evening by crashing headlong into the home of Louis E. Rider at 275 Wellington street.

An estimated $2500 damage was done when the car plunged through a side wall, across a ground floor entrance hall, through a second wall and against Rider's car in a basement garage.

Owner of the runaway car, Dimitri Imshensky, 52, a Santa Rosa real estate broker, said he had parked his car at the top of the hill. He was walking away when suddenly he heard a woman scream.

Turning, he saw his car careening down the street.

In its wild journey down a block and a quarter, the car-side-swiped parked cars owned by John Benfield of Cerve Couer, Mo., and Neil Hutchens, 327 Wellington street.

The Rider family told police they thought a bomb had exploded when the car hit the side of their two-story home. Imshensky's car was badly damaged, police said.

Although he claimed he put the brakes on his car and turned the front wheels against the curb, Imshensky was cited for improper parking.

THANKING Joseph Lewkowicz, independent Richfield dealer with service station located atop of Mission street hill in Daly City, are Nancy Lee Bailey, Donald Hinckley and Nancy's half-brother, Jimmie Brower. Looking on is

CHARGE SF MUSICIAN WITH CAR THEFT HERE

A 29-year-old San Francisco musician, who was stopped in San Francisco for a minor traffic violation, was turned over to local police when it was found he was driving a stolen car.

John Russell Reed, 1125 Scott street, is scheduled to appear for preliminary trial Tuesday on a charge of car theft. The car in question was allegedly stolen from Manuel Tognoli, Route 41, Colma, last January 26.

San Francisco police found, upon stopping Reed for failing to observe a stop sign, that he had no registration and the plates didn't match the car. Checking their files, the San Francisco department

The jitneys, yet unincorporated, are represented by a group of independent vehicle owners. J. Walsh has appeared as spokesman for the jitneys.

The fare within the city would be 15 or 20 cents and no transfers would be given, according to Wilson.

The bus lines, Peninsula and Westmoor, would offer 15-cent fares with inter-change of transfers within the city limits and Broadmoor.

Inter-Connect
Peninsula line would run from the cemeteries in Colma, up Mission street, over School to Junipero Serra where it would connect with Westmoor then back up Mission to the county line. Westmoor service would operate within Westlake and Broadmoor, and would provide express service to West Portal, connecting there with San Francisco lines.

Broadmoor residents have already backed the Westmoor service, declaring the jitneys were "definitely out."

Monday's council decision on the transit issue will be made at the regular meeting open to the public. Session is held at the city hall, 75 Wellington avenue, beginning at 8 p.m. Citizens are urged to attend.

Withdrawal of Cutter laboratory vaccine, planned for San Mateo county, came as a result of several children contacting polio after receiving the vaccine. Jefferson elementary district and local parochial school first and second graders were to have received free vaccinations starting Monday.

"Exposed Before"
In a report to the school board last week, Mrs. Delafield said there was no real evidence at that time that there is anything wrong with the vaccine.

"The six children (more have since contacted polio) who came down with polio two to four days after the inoculation are believed to have been exposed to the disease before then because it takes polio germs an average of seven days to incubate," she explained.

Last week the Public Health Department and the county Medical society agreed on the following four points concerning the Salk Vaccine program:

1. The immunization program will be postponed in the schools until such time as there is a safe and licensed vaccine preparation.

Guarantee Safe Program
2. The Department of Public Health and the County Medical society will guarantee an immunization program at such time as there is a safe and licensed vaccine preparation available.

3. The previous consent forms sent out are now considered invalid. New consent forms will be sent out before this new subsequent program is carried out.

4. The committee recommended that those who have had the first shot of polio vaccine with their private physician should get a second shot as the licensed vaccine becomes available.

PHYSICAL ED FOLLOWING BY WAYSIDE?

The United States is falling pathetically by the wayside in physical education for its youngsters, according to a recent statement by Ted Banks, president of the Athletic Institute of America.

The former Idaho football coach and grid star under "Hurry Up" Yost at Michigan says kids today spend too much time watching TV and looking at automobiles and not enough is being done to replace wood chopping and plenty of walking children of other generations had to do everyday.

Inasmuch as we just observed Public Schools Week it's an ideal time to rally to the defense of the younger generation's physical prowess at least as far as Jefferson Elementary district's program.

SEDENTARY LIFE HURTS PHYSICAL FITNESS

Banks claims boys and girls today lead a sedentary life that is taking away the nation's physical fitness. "The athletic side of their education is going to pot."

After a lengthy interview with Dennis Haujardo, district physical education coordinator, we've discovered Mr. Banks' contention is out of order here.

Jefferson district, Haujardo says, falls among the 20 per cent of the elementary schools in the U. S. with an organized program in physical education.

A daily minimum of 20 minutes play is compulsory in the district, as throughout the state.

Primary grade children do not just hurtle out the door when the bell rings and have fun and games that resemble anarchy. Their program is highly organized.

PROGRAM BUILT ON WHAT GOES ON BEFORE

As Haujardo puts it, "The program is progressive; the work each day, each week, each year is built upon what has gone before. As children develop skill, they participate in more highly organized and advanced activities. As they approach adolescence, their interests change—so do their physical education activities. What they do at any age level is determined by the growth and development pattern of the children rather than by adult desire and community enthusiasm for winning teams."

We picked up a mimeographed sheet showing schedule of activities for primary grade youngsters and were astounded that there were so many things under the sun that a child could do, probably without even knowing it. For instance, the recommended activity for first graders was broken down into three categories—rhythmic, team and supplementary.

Listed among the rhythmic program are: Creative movements, mimetics, story plays, singing games, folk dances; team activities include: tag and it game, circles games, stunts, rope jumping; hopscotch and apparatus are listed as supplementary.

This is just a sample. A similar schedule of activities goes all the way through the sixth grade, getting progressively more advanced in scope.

GRADED SKILLS AT UPPER LEVELS

At seventh and eighth grade levels, Haujardo continued, a child is graded on basic skills and his participation in team games increases. He estimates that 80 to 90 per cent of the junior high school age group participate in organized team play.

In Banks recent commentary on the plight of U. S. physical education, he pointed out that 56 per cent of children in New York City elementary schools failed to pass a simple test of chinning themselves, running and jumping.

"Sure, we've got kids who are weak in these basic skills and that's why our program has been aimed at overcoming this deficiency," stated Haujardo.

Seventh and eighth grade boys are ranked in physical education on a chart which includes pull ups, push ups, passing, catching and kicking a football, passing, catching, dribbling and shooting a baseball, serving and volleying a volleyball, dancing (square, two-step, box, swing and waltz), and citizenship.

On one side of the tally sheet a child is graded with an "X-score," which means his actual raw score. On the other side is a "T-score," which takes into consideration the child's physical potential in relation to his performance. These two factors are combined to determine a child's PE grade.

ONLY ONE PER CENT FAIL BASIC TEST

Haujardo figures only about one per cent of the seventh and eighth graders are unable to pass the basic skills test that Banks said 56 per cent of New York children failed to achieve.

"Banks mention of the sedentary life today watching TV and looking at autos is true to an extent," Haujardo related. "But who says whether this is good or bad? For a man like Banks who's interested in developing athletes for world competition it's bad, but for an educator interested in seeing a child get the proper social adjustment, maybe it's good."

"I'm not saying they should watch TV or tinker with cars, but there are so many more things of interest to a child today that they don't specialize in one or another sport. Many of these outside activities are valuable to a child, but we still try to see to it that the physical education isn't neglected."

From where we sit in this rickety old chair leading a sedentary life of an alphabetical key puncher, the 4400 elementary school kids are hardly neglected in the physical education department.

JEFF TRACKMEN IN TRIPLE WIN OVER SOUTH CITY

Jefferson High school trackmen picked the last dual meet of the season to make a clean sweep as they scored a triple win Tuesday over South San Francisco.

Local varsity bested the Warriors, 69-43, while the 30s posted a resounding 84-29 triumph, as Lowell Klaisner copped two sprints. The 20s, sparked by Sonny Martinez' brilliant triple victory, easily topped the South City spikemen, 51-17.

Jim Farley was the varsity's only double victor, claiming both weight events.

Winners for the varsity included: Ernie Hansen, 120 yd. high hurdles, 16.8; Rich Gonzales, 880, 2:06.5; Jim Rector, mile, 4:40.4; Jefferson 880 relay team, 1:39; Bill Curtis, high jump, 5' 6"; Farley, shot put, 42' 4", and discus, 113' 5 1/2"; Ron O'Rourke, broadjump, 19' 6".

For the 30s winners were: Jim D'Amour, 70-yard high hurdles, 10.4; Steve Mack, 660, 1:31.3; Rogue Domingo, 75, 8.3; Lowell Klaisner, 330, 37.4, and 150, 15.5; Armando Gutierrez, 120 yd. low hurdles, 14.7; Andy Estigoy, 1320, 3:40; Jefferson 440 relay, 46.3; Phil Daniels, high jump, 5'; Boyd Hillier, shot put, 48' 7"; and George

FIRST SOFTBALL OUT. THEN HARBALL; REC LEAGUE POSTPONED

Daly City recreation department's harball league, substituted at a moment's notice after earlier failure of a softball circuit, has been postponed until summer, according to James Mason, director.

Three weeks ago the initial day of play for the softball league was scheduled but only 20 youngsters showed, 80 less than anticipated.

The recreation department decided to switch the circuit to harball, but have wound up in the same spot—not enough participants.

Mason said a league would be formed at the end of June.

Until that time, independent games will be scheduled and boys interested may contact Lou Martin at the rec department.

"The kids get too much softball at school," Mason said, "and we can't get enough players proficient in harball."

Rocchi, broadjump, 17' 10".

The Indian 20s swept first place in every event. Winners and performances were: Martinez, 75, 8.3, 150, 15.8, and broad jump, 17' 1"; Dan Miceli, 330, 40; Harvey Marston, 120 yd. low hurdles, 15.6; Jefferson 440 relay, 48.8; Bruce Lovazzano, high jump, 4' 8"; and Neil Dunford, shot put, 40' 6".

The victory gave the local 20s an undefeated season in dual meets.

Indians Drop Another One; Need Five Straight Wins To Gain PAL Playoffs

"Our worst game of the season," stated Coach Lou Martin after the Jefferson High school Indians' 9-0 loss to San Mateo Tuesday. The defeat left the Daly City school with three losses, two wins in PAL play.

The loss dropped the Indians stock on first place to rock-bottom but the Jeff mentor still holds hopes for a runner-up finish and chance at the league crown.

The loss would have been even more dismal except for results of X-Rays Saturday which showed mound ace Lowell Creighton to have suffered only a bad ankle sprain, not a break as was believed at the league crown.

The winners took only two games to dispense with the Eagles Tuesday. Santos was instrumental in the shutout victory, bowling individual games of 223 and 236, the latter being evening's high game. V & F claimed the first game, 867-817, and the second, 944-882.

The tavern men's individual scores were as follows: Vince Merlo, 177, 164; Lloyd Seiml, 155, 171; Ed Ebinger, 132, 189; Santos, 223, 236; Babe De Luca, 180, 184.

Rolling for Eagles were: Bill Watson, 159, 215; Frank Lister, 155, 208; Willy Grubb, 135, 124; John Porkowsky, 134, 174; and Del Fehl, 234, 161.

Lowell Creighton

... He's OK Now

lieved at the conclusion of the Carlmont contest Friday.

The Matrons, led by Bob Weitzel's one-hit performance, did everything right this week, while the Indians did things wrong in a big way.

5 Big Errors

In the first four innings, while Pitcher Jim Honeywell was giving up eight singles, his teammates were adding to the injury with five errors. The quartet of innings found the Bearcats pushing across eight runs, only one of them earned.

Ray Vuillmainroy relieved in the fifth, holding the Matrons to two hits and no walks.

Only Jeff man to reach bases via a safe blow was Catcher John Murphy, who doubled in the second inning.

Friday against Carlmont Creighton was his usual excellence for six innings, after which he was yanked because of an ankle injury. The Indians registered an 8-2 triumph, after giving the Scots an advantage in the opening inning.

Creighton struck out 11 batters, and allowed only five scattered hits, no walks.

Honeywell finished on the hill, looking good in allowing no hits or bases on balls.

Carlmont tallied both their runs in the opening on a pair of errors.

Utilizes Sacrifices

The Indians came back with one run in the second, one in the third, one in the fourth, three in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Ken Smith's double sparked the sixth frame three-man rally. Martin utilized seven bunt situations to good advantage, as five sacrifices and two squeezes either scored runners or advanced them into position. The Jeffs rattled out a total of nine hits.

Martin has it figured, "on the basis of a big 'If,' that the Indians can finish in second spot and enter the playoffs. The 'If' is based on winning the next five league games. The big order starts this afternoon (Friday) against Burlingame at the local diamond.

Honeywell will start, with Creighton standing by in relief.

Tuesday the Jeffs go back against Burlingame at the Panther field, with Vuillmainroy or Tex Prentice scheduled to open on the mound and Creighton again in the bull pen.

Next Friday the Jeffs play the first half of what Martin thinks will be the biggest hurdle to attaining his second place goal: South San Francisco. Creighton is expected to be ready for a starting role by then. The Indians go back against the Warriors Tuesday, May 17. "If we get by Burlingame twice, double up over South City and then take Capuchino May 20 we'll be all alone in second place," Martin speculates. Even if the Indians lose to Capuchino they would still share a piece of second spot with SSF and Cap and would play off to see who enters the finals.

Shuffle Line-up

On the strength of Tuesday's miserable showing, Martin has jelled his earlier plan to change the line-up. In today's action Al Figone, third baseman, will probably be covering the short stop post. Smith, who has had trouble moving to the left or right at the short patch, will be switched to second. Vuillmainroy, who can play anywhere, will handle third, while Bob Grubb, Prentice or Bill Storch will probably be in right field. Storch has the edge because

OTTOBONI DISPLAYS OLD FORM; BLASTS TARGET FOR HOT 292

Colma Mayor Ray Ottoboni showed flashes of the form that won him the 1935 National Rifle Association pistol championship Sunday when he fired a 292 out of a possible 300 to lead all comers in the Camp Perry competition at the Oakland Police Pistol.

It was Ottoboni's best score since 1938, when he was still in active competition with the .38.

Two Daly City police officers, Jim Welsh and Charles Terry, blustered the target for scores of 276, while Officer Gerald Schaefer fired a 271. Auxiliary policeman Wayne Carr hit a 251. Combined scores gave Daly City first place in the marksman division for the second straight month.

OLPH JUNIORS ROMP TO 14th STRAIGHT

Hitting stars for the Juniors were Dave Gehre, Whalen, George Claus, Barry Krohn and John Vinal.

Frosh-Soph Win Dozen; Top League

Jefferson High school's frosh-soph club made it five league wins in a row and stretched their undefeated string to an even dozen last Thursday as they parlayed four hits and a rattled pitcher into four runs to shut out Menlo Atherton, 4-0.

Ed Leveroni, whom the yearlings have relied on for more than three-fourths of their wins, threw a four-hitter at the MA team, gave up two walks and struck out two batters.

Jefferson hitting was restricted to two players, Gary Ryan who doubled and singled, and Mike Wedlake, who got a pair of one-base hits.

The Indians picked up two runs in the third, one in the fourth and their final tally in the fifth. Stolen bases and balks accounted for two of the scores as the MA pitcher broke whenever the heckling Jeffmen got on base.

Frosh sensation Ino Patron broke up a Menlo rally in the second inning with one man on the basepaths when he made a running catch of a fly ball way back between right and center field.

Coach Byron Van Alstyne's local yearlings 5-0 league mark is identical with that of South San Francisco. The two pace-setters each have four league games remaining, including yesterday's scheduled contests.

Jeff Spikemen Surprise; Place Well In All Three Divisions At NPAL Trials

Jefferson High school's varsity will send five men into the Peninsula Athletic league track finals tomorrow (Saturday) at Stanford's Angel field.

In the varsity semi-finals Friday at Burlingame Jim Rector was the only Indian winner, pounding out a 4:44.8 mile, one of his slower times. Four other places were won by Coach Ernie Ribera's Jeffs, enough to give the local cindermen 29 1/2 points and third place in Northern PAL scoring.

Fambini made it one-two for the Indians in the mile as he finished close behind Rector. Rich Gonzales was runner-up in the 880-yard dash that was won in 2:04.3.

George Seger and Bill Curtis qualified in the discus and high-jump, respectively, trials for which were held earlier in the week.

Klaisner Takes Two

The Indian 30s finished fourth in team scoring for the NPAL with 32 points as Lowell Klaisner continued to whip all opposition in the sprints.

Klaisner whizzed to first in the 330 yard dash in 37 flat, breaking the PAL standard of 37.3 for the second time in two weeks.

Klaisner's 15.8 150-yard dash was good for another first place. Steve Mack finished third in the 660 yard dash.

Boyd Hillier picked up two places, a third in the shot with a 50' 2" toss, and second in the discus with a 113' 10" heave. In the shot, only six inches separated the first three places.

Jefferson picked up further points with a second in the 440-yard relay.

OLPH SUDS SHUTOUT ST. EMYDIUS FOR LEAGUE DEBUT WIN

OLPH S uds (intermediates) opened CYO league play Saturday with a 3-0 victory over St. Emydius as Joe Murphy twirled a two-hit shutout.

Tomorrow (Saturday) Coach Walt Gillies S uds do battle with St. Thomas More in a league contest at Jefferson High school diamond, starting at 10 a.m.

The Daly City 20s fared even better, winding up second in team with scoring with 46, behind San Mateo's 62.

Sonny Martinez showed the way for the 20s, undefeated in dual meet competition, as he shared a first with teammate Dan Miceli in the 150-yard dash, first in the broadjump, second in the 75-yard dash and ran a lap on the relay quartet which finished second.

Martinez and Miceli dashed the 150 in 16.3. A broad jump of 18' 10" gave Martinez a first in that event.

Other Jefferson qualifiers included: Miceli, 330, second; Wayne Marston, broadjump, fourth; Neil Dunford, shot put, second; Miceli, shot put, fourth.

The Jeff 20s eight spots in tomorrow's finals stamp them as strong contenders for the league championship.
